

The most delicate
art is to be natural
to the way things are
to themselves.